

Quotations

Dogmatism is the mechanisation of the mind and conformity the mechanisation of the emotions - John MacMurray.

Modern man represents the triumph of the mechanistic intellect over mere instinct, just as future man will represent the triumph of divine intuition over mere intellect - Paul Brunton.

The main purpose of technology is to improve weaponry - David Bohm.

Until he extends the circle of his compassion to all living things, man will not himself find peace - Albert Schweitzer.

Mathematics, rightly viewed, possess not only truth but supreme beauty - a beauty cold and austere, like that of sculpture - Bertrand Russell.

What is left to us from tradition is merely words - it is up to us to find out what the words mean - Ibn 'Arabi.

Right action comes from right thinking, and ... there is no cure and no improving the world that does not begin with the individual himself - C.G. Jung.

The curse of ignorance is that a man without being good or wise is nevertheless satisfied with himself: he has no desire for that of which he feels no want - Socrates.

Scientists who spend their life with the purpose of proving that it is purposeless constitute an interesting field of study - A.N. Whitehead.

Acceptance without proof is the fundamental characteristic of western religion. Rejection without proof is the fundamental characteristic of western science - Gary Zukav.

If it is true, in general, that ideas have consequences, then man's ideas about man have the most far-reaching consequences of all - Floyd Matson.